IMPROVEMENTS.

The city of "hard times," and "nothing doing," has led many to believe that our city was a perfect standstill in every respect. A walk around the town however will convince any observer that there is life in the old land yet. The buildings which have been erected during the past two or three months, and those now being erected, are evidence of the fact that our mechanics some employment, and of course have caused some money to be circulated.

On Front street we have the Plover Manufacturing of McReynolds & Co., which is not yet completed, but which has commenced operations. On Madison street, B. O. Keese has commenced work for the erection of a handsome residence. On Commerce, E. B. Ely has just finished a handsome addition to his residence. On Franklin street Dr. W. T. McReynolds has been broken for a building of some kind. On Second street the Hook and Ladder Company have completed an excellent truck house, containing also a gymnasium and a beautiful hall, and on the same street Mr. Hodgson has lately erected a new shop at his Marble Yard, and just opposite this, Mr. Dineen has put up a small building. On Seventh street, Dr. Shearer has erected a neat cottage, and near this, fronting on College street, Mr. Hooper is building two houses. On Strawberry alley Messrs. Northington & Dudley have built and opened a new livery stable. The lumber for the large tobacco warehouse to be erected on the corner of Commerce and Second street is being hauled to the grounds, and the work of digging the foundation is begun. On Franklin street the African M. E. Church building has progressed to the second story, and will, when completed, add much to the appearance of the "big pond" neighborhood. Besides these we have heard of several which are in contemplation and will probably soon be commenced. We had almost forgotten the edifice adjoining the store of B. F. Coulter on the east, which, although not very useful, is quite an ornament to that portion of the city.

There is much reason for complaint of "dull times" here now, but there are evidences on every hand that Clarksville is not yet finished and ready for fencing in, and energy on the part of all interested, and a proper application and direction of the capital which is here, would soon place her where she rightly belongs—in the front rank of southern cities. Then instead of complaining of the dullness of the times, let us all put our shoulders to the wheel, and each do what he may, be it much or little, for the future prosperity of our city.

GREENWOOD CEMETERY.—By reference to the notice which we publish at the foot of our local columns to-day, it will be seen that the cemetery company is ready to make removals from any burial grounds near the city for all who desire to remove the remains of their departed friends. Notify the President or Secretary and the time will be fixed. In this connection we would also urge upon all, to select lots in this beautiful cemetery. The company having it in charge are reliable men, knowing to be such by our people, and the security, permanency and beauty of this city for the dead is placed beyond doubt—it is a fixed fact. A neatly framed drawing of the cemetery lots may be seen at the Northern Bank, so that persons can make a selection without going to the grounds. A very neat frame of a house, with brick foundation, intended for Mr. Scott, the sexton, will soon be completed by Messrs. G. B. Wilson & Co. Under the superintendence of Mr. Scott, who possesses all the qualifications necessary to the discharge of his duties, lot owners may rest satisfied that due care and attention will be bestowed upon their sacred rights.

CAPT. O. W. DAVIS has built a new boat, named Laura L. Davis, after the Captain's daughter, for the Nashville, Cairo and Cape Girardeau trade. She has the Lumsden's machinery. The hull was built at Madison, Ind., and is 187 feet long, 34 feet beam, with 6 feet depth in diameter, and 20 feet long. She has a comfortable cabin, with accommodations for 90 passengers, together with a first class food and drink. The cylinders are 15 inches in diameter, with 5 feet stroke, working a water wheel with 26 feet bucket, with 18 feet 4 inches diameter. She trims on 19 inches of water, and has capacity for 650 tons. She cost $30,000.

PERSONAL.—G. C. Breed, Esq., of Louisville, was in the city last week, on business connected with a suit against the railroad. His absence has not detracted from his weight or cleverness—he is the same social, intelligent gentleman as of yore. The world we live in would be much better by having more such men as Gilbert C. Breed.

THE poetical contribution, "To the Bear of Finly Place," by a young poetess, will be inserted in our next issue. The CHRONICLE, as a medium, is cheerfully granted you to make your appearance before the public when you are moved by the muses.

BLOCH BRO. renew their advertisement this week. They have an immense stock, up stairs, collar and garment, being filled out of which everybody and his wife can make selections to suit their varied tastes.

WESTENBERGER has now on hand a large and splendid assortment of materials out of which to manufacture boots and shoes. He has no superior as a workman in this country, always keeps posted in styles, and never fails to give satisfaction in the fit and durability of his work.

CHATTANOOGA COMMERCIAL.—The proprietors of this daily are issuing a neatly printed and well filled paper, entitled the Chattanooga Commercial, which starts off with a showing of pecuniary success. Barring its politics we wish it prosperity.

MR. WHITFIELD, School Superintendent, has sent us the scholastic census of the county, too late for this week's issue. In advance of its publication entire, we have only space to say that total of whites, is 4,777; of colored 3,775—altogether 8,552.

DUNBAR'S CAVE.

GRAND COUNCIL OF FARMERS.

BEAUTY AND CHIVALRY.

TOBACCO LEAF PREMIUMS.

Thursday morning last dawned bright and beautiful, and at an early hour the space in front of the cave was filled with youth and beauty, and hill and valley were dotted with pleasure seekers drawn thither by the interesting program offered.

About half past eleven o'clock, the excellent band in attendance struck up its inspiring strains and many were soon engaged in "wiping the light fantastic," while others were enjoying themselves in different ways.

About half past eleven o'clock, it was announced that the speaking would commence, and as the subject to be discussed—that of the necessity for organization on the part of the farming community—was one of vital and absorbing interest to most of those present, nearly all repaired to the stand prepared for the speakers.

Mr. Doak introduced to the audience Capt. Frank Duff, chairman of the committee of press representatives, who in a happy little speech stated the object of so large a gathering, and announced the programme of the day.

Gen. A. J. D. Thurston, State Lecturer of the Patrons of Husbandry, was then introduced, and addressed the audience upon the necessity for organization on the part of the farmers, first reading the preamble to the constitution of the Patrons of Husbandry, and then clearly setting forth the program for unity of purpose and co-operation for the production of class, upon whom depend in so great a measure the welfare and prosperity of the entire race.

Leaving the discussion of the merits of granges for Dr. Maxwell, who followed him, he urged the farmers to organize, if not in granges, then in farmer's clubs, or under whatever name they might choose, no matter what, so that they organized for mutual protection against those rings and monopolies which grow rich at the expense of the producer without benefitting the consumer.

He also urged upon them the necessity of study and the application of science to following the profession of farmers, of a thorough education in those sciences pertaining to agriculture, and clearly demonstrated that these subjects could nowhere so well be taught as in organizations of those who were daily engaged in the pursuits which would enable them to discuss and compare the results of their labors and experiments. He exhorted them to the organizations existing in almost every other class of citizens, looking to the benefit and protection of the particular class in whose interest they were formed, and proving the good results which had followed the organization of the farmers in other localities where it had been tested.

His address was an able, earnest effort in behalf of the cause in which he is engaged, appealing to no prejudice of class, but was rather an exhortation to all engaged in agricultural pursuits to follow out the course best calculated to exalt and dignify the calling, and benefit the entire community. He was listened to with close attention throughout, and the influence of his argument was felt by all who heard him.

Dr. Maxwell, of Dyer county, Master of the State Grange, was then introduced by Mr. Leonard, and proceeded to explain the teachings, objects and workings of the order of Patrons of Husbandry. He utterly disclaimed any political objects, in the organization, stating that its aims were the education and advancement of its members, individually and collectively, their protection against the extortion and abuses of cliques and rings, and financially, the bringing together the consumer and manufacturer, without the intervention of middlemen, showing the advantages to result to the members from such organization. He claims for the grange that it will also prove a great moral and social benefit to all communities where established, inasmuch as only those who are of good moral character can become members, and its advantages are such that all will be induced to strive to reach the standard required for membership.

While there were some points in Dr. Maxwell's address which will not be endorsed by all classes, yet his arguments were strong in favor of the organization, and the grange throughout the length and breadth of the land.

Mr. Doak followed Dr. Maxwell, in a short speech, in which he took issue with that gentleman in regard to some of the points of his address, which he thought calculated to array class against class, and produce evil where only good was intended, but favoring in general terms the organization of the farmers.

THE FALL TRADE.

Our merchants, in all the branches of business, have bought an immense stock of goods, and are offering great inducements to purchasers, in goods and prices. As a consequence, the trade is becoming so liberally brisk, and money matters are getting some easier. Clarksville is blessed with clever, energetic and pushing business men, in all lines, and they are using every effort to bring the city up to the position which she should occupy. Our grocery men are doing a very heavy wholesale business, and Clarksville is now filling orders, which formerly went to Louisville, Cincinnati, Nashville or other points farther off, and those whom they supply with goods find it to their interest to purchase here. Some of our dry goods merchants are also doing a considerable wholesale business, as well as a very brisk retail trade. Our agricultural men are busy supplying the demand for seeds and implements, and business men, of all classes, wear brighter faces than they have had for some months, and the indications are, that the trade during the coming fall and winter will be an unusually heavy one.

DEATH OF MRS. COVINGTON.—Mrs. Leah Covington died at the residence of her son-in-law, B. B. Clark, in this city, on the 17th inst., aged 74 years. We have known her from our boyhood, and can bear testimony to her excellent traits of character. She was an unassuming, christian lady, always ready for every good word and work, ready to lend a helping hand to relieve the distress of those who were in need of help in sickness or in health. She was a true woman in all the relations of life, and lived to rear a large circle of children who doated upon a fond mother. She had long been the subject of great affliction, but has now passed away, to reap the reward of a life well spent in the service of her maker. May those she leaves behind ever be ready, when the summons shall come, to meet her again.

The funeral sermon was preached by Rev. A. D. Sears, to a large assembly of sympathizing friends, after which the remains were conveyed to the City Cemetery for interment.

THE LADIES' PEARL.—The October number of this periodical reaches us in good time, gotten up in the best style of typography, upon excellent paper, and an increase in the quantity of reading matter. A casual glance at its contents shows a marked improvement in original and selected articles, forming in its general make-up, a literary magazine worthy of an extended and paying circulation. The Pearl is intended for the ladies, and as it is worthy of their best efforts, we hope all of them will lend a helping hand towards building it up and guarantee that financial aid that will make a complete success. Address J. C. Provine, D. D., editor, at Nashville, Tenn.

MRS. ROSEFIELD is receiving her beautiful and varied stock of millinery goods recently purchased in the east. The ladies kept posted in this department—see mention the arrival of such goods for the benefit of the masculine gender, so the poor devils may make the necessary arrangements to foot the bills. This is all right, however, for men suffer themselves carried away by fine dresses and pretty bonnets in the inefficiency of courtship, and the captured birds think it best to keep up appearances, so that love will not wax cold.

DR. MAXWELL, Master of the State Grange, Patrons of Husbandry, on Thursday morning gave the address at the Royal, in this county, making one hundred and twenty-two in this State up to this time. He will be at Antioch, on the south side of the river, at two o'clock this (Saturday) evening, and at Tarsus, near Dr. J. H. Marable's, on Monday at ten o'clock, for the purpose of organizing others.

GEN. VAUGHN, of Mississippi, will address the citizens at this place, on Tuesday, October 14th, on the subject of a narrow gauge railroad from this place to Edgefield. This is a subject in which all are interested, and all should attend.

THE Memphis Ledger states the point very pointedly as follows: "Among the paradoxes of human nature may be recorded the fact that a newspaperman may write a complimentary notice daily of the average man without receiving a call or hearing an acknowledgment of the compliment from the worthy; yet if but once per annum a non-complimentary notice, be it ever so vague, is published, the average man rushes to the newspaper office and wishes everybody to read and explain. This class of worthies is near akin to candidates for office, whose infernal familiarity upon a slight acquaintance is painfully apparent and correspondingly disagreeable."

L. FROELICH goes east to-day to replenish his stock. Mr. Froelich always keeps a good assortment of everything in his line, and sells as cheap as the cheapest. He intends to bring on the largest stock ever brought for this market.

CHARLIE LEHMAN has gone to Louisville and Cincinnati to make arrangements for fall supplies for his restaurant. He will have fresh oysters, fish, etc., on hand next week.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—A young man named Jesse Cunningham, living at Mr. Wm. Thompson on the south side of the river, was thrown from a horse Saturday evening last, receiving injuries from which he died about ten o'clock Sunday morning.

COMPLETE Stock of Trusses, Supporters, Braces, etc., to be found at "KREBS", and at low prices.

OPERATIONS HAVE BEEN SUSPENDED

at Lafayette Mills for several days on account of necessary repairs for the boilers. Work will be resumed on Monday or Tuesday next.

The September number of the Nashville Journal of Medicine and Surgery, edited by W. K. Bowling, M. D., and W. T. Briggs, M. D., has come to hand. It is an ably edited, well conducted journal, and should have an extensive circulation.

The eighth annual Fair of the Paducah and McCracken County Agricultural Association will be held on October 14, 15, 16 and 17.

Religions.

The protracted meeting at Salem, on the South side, conducted by Rev. J. H. Reynolds, has closed yesterday. Much good was done, and great interest manifested.

PRAYER MEETING will be held at the residence of J. A. Grant, on Greenwood Avenue, next Thursday night. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

The latest advice we have in regard to the Yellow fever is the 17th. The Shreveport Times says the number of interments since 1st of September sums up 228. The number of sick is variously stated from 500 to 800.

New Advertisements.

The New Providence Saving Institution offers for sale Louisville City seven percent bonds, due in 1888, at 90 cents and accrued interest.

Bloch Bro. renew their advertisement this week.

The dissolution of Lyle, Rosington & Co., and the new firm Rosington & Lyle, is announced in today's paper.

H. C. Merritt, Esq., of J. P. Campbell, has notice to-day.

Mr. P. Street advertises an insolvent notice.

J. Latham & Co., of Boston, Mass., want to give employment to any who will take it.

John Manning announces himself a candidate for Alderman of 2nd ward.

Rice, Broadus & Co. have an attractive advertisement in another column.

Greenwood Cemetery.

The Company is now ready to make removals from the old cemeteries or other burial grounds near the city, for all who desire to remove the remains of their departed friends. ACCORDING TO FORMER ANNOUNCEMENT

Y. L. Williams is now receiving the largest stock of boots, shoes, hats, etc., etc., ever heretofore kept in Clarksville. These goods were bought from the manufacturers for cash, and as he is conducting his business upon strictly economical business principles he will be enabled to sell them at such low prices as to successfully challenge all competition.

He is building up a good lucrative business by adhering closely to the principle of "quick sales and short profits." He would earnestly ask all to call and examine his stock and prices, before buying, as it will consume but a few minutes of your time, and he will take great pleasure in showing you through and then you decide the question—where shall I buy my Boots and Shoes? His store room is No. 23, Franklin street.

IRWIN BEAUMONT has secured the agency for the sale of tickets in the Louisville Library Drawing, and will furnish tickets to all who wish to try their luck. [Sept. 19-30.]

EDITH CHURCHILL.—Some of the 4th Warders feel that the position of Alderman should seek the man, not the man the position; we therefore announce Mr. L. Hoch, a competent and faithful public servant, for reelection, satisfied that he will serve if elected.

HOUSE WANTED.—A house convenient to the Square, suitable for a very small family. Any one having such a house can find a tenant by calling at this office.

SPECIAL NOTICES.
